"Unless the White Race can find the leadership, the wisdom, and the will once again to police the world, the planet will continue in the grip of increasing chaos and terror, until the jungle reclaims the survivors hiding in caves and holes like frightened beasts."

WHITE POWER, Chap. XII

Great Upsurge in Southern California Activity

Instilled with a spirit of activism, the Southern California delegates to the Party Congress went home with a pledge to increase activity in their district. Since then the L.A. headquarters has been holding weekly newspaper sales. In one recent newspaper sale held 15 September, one trooper who was alone on a street corner was approached by three Jews armed with a crowbar and lengths of sharpened pipe. After the trooper refused their order to leave, the Jews attempted to rip the newspapers from his hands, and a fight ensued. The Jews very bravely fought one unarmed trooper, who suffered injuries after being struck on the head with the crowbar, but when other troopers arrived from across the street the assailants fled.

On 22 September, six teams of Stormtroopers demonstrated in San Diego in front of the local CBS television affiliate. The demonstration was called to protest the CBS policy of refusing to bring to the attention of the White American public the fact that present economic troubles in America are due to scheming by Jews such as Arthur Burns, Henry Kissinger, Herbert Stein and Michel Fribourg. In a letter presented to the local station, GL Wilson brought out one specific example of U.S. bread prices being so high because of last years grain giveaway to Communist Russia. (Above is a picture of San Diego Unit Leader Ray Wilson as he talks to newsmen).

Commander Wins Test Case in D.C.

All charges against Commander Koehl for allegedly demonstrating near the Soviet Embassy in Washington, D.C. earlier this year were dropped on 20 September. Commander Koehl was arrested on 12 May on a disorderly conduct charge as he attempted to walk past the embassy with other troopers en route to the White House for a picket demonstration on behalf of Rudolf Hess. (See Bulletin No. 134.)

Lawyers for the Commander pointed out that he was not demonstrating outside the embassy, but merely walking by in uniform. The attorneys are now asking police officials who guard foreign embassies to take note of the decision and to stop harassment of Party personnel in the future.

Florida White Power Message on the Air

On 12 September, a White Power Message serving the Tampa-St. Petersburg area of Florida went on the air. In a recent report, Unit Leader Richard Saunders stated: "Although no more than 15 to 20 message cards were given out, the unit was working near full capacity by the 14th." The number of the new WPM is: (813) 521-1705.

On Wednesday, 12 September, local Party members attended a local Pinellas County school board meeting. Their appearance was directed against race-mixing Superintendent Gus Sakkis, who in the past has ignored all demands from concerned parents that he end school integration in Pinellas County. TL Saunders, who led the demonstration, has vowed to continue his opposition to Sakkis until local White students are no longer victims of Black terrorism. The address of the Pinellas County Unit is: P.O. Box 7591, St. Petersburg, Florida 33734.

"White Socialist" Passes Out Literature After School Board Meeting

GI National Socialist Presses Protest Against Bonn Regime

Jimmy Clendennen, the man who handcuffed himself to the German Embassy in Washington, D.C., to protest the harassment of National Socialist comrades in Germany, continued his fight against the regim of Willy Brandt by doing the same thing in Chicago on 4 September. Accompanied by two local troopers, Clendennen went to the offices of the German consulate located in downtown Chicago. While Pvt. Clendennen handcuffed himself to the door, TL John Logan entered the consulate and handed a startled Bonn official a prepared statement demanding the release of all National Socialist political prisoners in Germany. In typical fashion, the apostle of true freedom and democracy rejected Clendennen's demands and chose instead to call the police.

Nazi-Uniformed Men Stir School Board's Audience

By TOM KEYSER
Sun Staff Writer

About an hour into Wednesday's Pinellas County School Board meeting, three men, ordinary-looking men, found three seats in the rear of the meeting room.

Before sitting down they took off their ordinary-looking sport coats and thus begins this out-of-the-ordinary story.

Red, white and black armbands with Nazi swastikas encircled their left arms and brown military shirts covered the top halves of their bodies.

They calmly sat down. Others in the audience became visibly stirred.

A woman in orange was sitting next to them and she turned red in the face, grabbed her umbrella and walked from the room. Several women followed.

Like dominoes, row-by-row, people noticed and turned to look. They began to whisper and soon everybody looked.

Northeast High School Principal Lee Benjamin, a big man, sat two chairs from the men. He tossed his sport coat on the next chair, his face reddened and his muscles tightened. He glared at them.

For an hour and a half, the three men sat very still and said very little.

When the meeting recessed, they got up to leave. Everybody else got up to look.

Outside in the school administration hallway, they said, "We're here to represent white folks." They said they were members of the National Socialist White People's Party (NSWPP).

Richard Saunders, who said he was the leader of about 200 supporters in Pinellas County, said members of the NSWPP were concerned about busing and were observing school board meetings in several cities around the country.

Charles Saunders and Dennis Brucker, fellow white socialists, said little. They gave literature to the crowd that had gathered.

The literature made it clear these white folks, who said they live in St. Petersburg, wanted nothing to do with black folks.

Richard Saunders answered numerous questions, some hostile questions, as the crowd slowly dispersed.

Finally, the three men stood alone. They walked outside to pose for a photographer giving the Nazi salute.

Then they left, leaving a man in the hallway to say, "I thought they were from the Red Cross."

What do you do with a world-trotting GI Nazi?

Pvt Jimmie L. Clendennen: Underground, overground, and chained to a fence . . .

FT LEWIS, Wash.

IT'S BEEN a busy month for Pvt Jimmie L. Clendennen, Ft Lewis' world-hopping Nazi.

After receiving a wrist-slapping Article 15 for a bizarre AWOL trip last month to the nation's Capital, where the 23-year-old Nazi chained himself to the German Embassy front gate to protest the arrest of some Nazi friends in Germany, Clendennen split again from Ft Lewis within a few days.

Over the course of the rest of the month, the undernourished fanatic: showed up at The Weekly's offices in Frankfurt, Germany; met with the German prosecutor of the case against his German friends; was arrested for AWOL by MPs and put on a plane back to the States; escaped military custody upon his arrival at McGuire AFB, N.J.; showed up at a Nazi rally in Cleveland; chained himself to the front gate of the German Consulate in Chicago; and was finally arrested yet again by military police.

Clendennen's summer of protest has earned him little more than publicity in the papers and a set of annoyed Army commanders. The German government remains unmoved by his series of loud protests against the current investigation into the illegal political activities of his German friends, who were members with him in an underground neo-Nazi party in Germany, where such actitities are outlawed.

While in Germany Clendennen talked with the Ministry of Justice officials in charge of the case and insisted again that they either drop the charges against his friends or arrest him as a co-conspirator. The German prosecutors explained that his German friends were not charged, but were only under investigation, and turned him over to the military attache of the U.S. Consulate in Duesseldorf. From there he was transferred to Frankfurt's HQ, Supt Dist Hessen where, being free to come and go as he pleased until his return to the States, he visited The Weekly's European Bureau Chief, Johanna Prym. He offered The Weekly his "full story" because, he said, "your reports are unbiased."

A few days later Clendennen was put on a military plane from Rhein-Main AB to McGuire AFB, N. J., for return to Ft Lewis, but in a comedy-of-errors mixup, managed again to escape.

His escorts, who were supposed to meet him as he disembarked at McGuire, showed up late. Clendennen, finding nobody there waiting for him, again disappeared.

He showed up a few days later at a Nazi rally in Cleveland, then went underground again. He next turned up chained to the gate of the Chicago German Consulate, repeating his litany of demands and was again arrested by military police.

The wandering soldier had not yet been returned to Ft Lewis by press time, and Ft Lewis officials refused to comment on what they plan to do with him when he finally gets back. Ft Lewis spokesmen have repeatedly denied rumors that undesireable discharge proceedings have been prepared for him, waiting only for that day when Clendennen sticks around long enough to get discharged.

Clendennen, who has been in the service for almost two years, told The Weekly he has been a Nazi sympathizer since he was 12 years old. But it wasn't until he arrived in Germany as a member of the 3rd Bd, 1st Inf Div at Cooke Barracks in Goeppingen last year and became associated with the underground German group Nationalsozialistische Kampfgruppe Grossdeutchsland (National Socialist Battle Group of Greater Germany), an illegal neo-Nazi group, that he crossed the paths of Army authorities.

When his German companions were seized and information was given to the Army that Clendennen was involved in the group, the Army arranged for his immediate reassignment to Ft Lewis to avoid embarrassing the German government.

Brown-Shirters Quiet Spectators

Three men, sporting brown military shirts and Nazi swastika armbands, caused a stir in the audience at Wednesday's Pinellas School Board meeting, but were no problem as far as Supt. Gus Sakkis is concerned.

"They said nothing and did nothing," Sakkis said this morning. "I don't know when they came in. I was busy giving some reports to the board. They just came and sat like anybody can at a board meeting."

The three men said they were members of the National Socialist White People's Party, formerly the American Nazi Party. Though they caused a stir in the audience when they removed their sports coats to reveal the shirts and armbands, they sat silently during the meeting.

After the meeting, the three handed out literature and fielded questions. Once the crowd dispersed, the trio left after posing for a photographer.

Richard Saunders, apparently the spokesman, said he leads about 200 supporters in the county who are concerned about busing. He said School Board meetings in several cities are being observed.

Sakkis is no stranger to the National Socialist White People's Party.

In March, during racial demonstrations in county schools, three party members taped a letter on the front door of his Yacht Club Estates home.

"We demand that white students be protected from black atrocities in your schools," the letter said in part. "Integration is nothing more than the slow genocide of the white race!"

At that time Sakkis called the party members "an absolutely despicable kind of people coming to my home."

Sakkis' wife was at home alone when the men arrived. A police stake-out had been on the house, but was lifted when the men did not arrive at the expected time. St. Petersburg police said they "are aware of the activities" of the group.

The Pinellas County Sheriff's Department confirmed having an "extensive file" on the group.

Clendennen was charged with disorderly conduct, but later the charges were dropped and he was turned over to military authorities. Upon his return to Ft. Lewis, Wash., he was thrown into the stockade pending court martial proceedings.

Party in Need of Rockwell Photos

National Headquarters is anxious to complete its collection of photographs or pictures of Commander Rockwell, whether in the form of private photos or newspaper clippings. We especially need profile photos of Commander Rockwell. If necessary, these pictures can be returned after we are through duplicating them.

Party Listed in New Book

In a new textbook published for high-school students entitled, "The Radical Left and the Far Right," a chapter is devoted to the Party.

The chapter contains pictures of the three great National Socialist leaders, Adolf Hitler, Lincoln Rockwell and Matt Koehl. Commander Koehl's writings are heavily emphasized, as the chapter is written mainly from an introductory standpoint.

Party Membership

There has been some confusion regarding the procedure for applying for membership in the Party and the World Union of National Socialists. THIS IS THE PROCEDURE:

Hate by Telephone: The Nazi Way

By JILL AMADIO

BRIDGEPORT — For the past six weeks hate messages have been spewed into the ears of anyone dialing a certain telephone number in this city.

A two-minute recorded spiel that is changed every Wednesday tells listeners the viewpoint of the local Nazi Party, a branch of the National Socialist White People's Party, which is dedicated to ridding America of Jews, blacks and Communists.

Twenty-two year old Stanley Sherwood, a native Bridgeporter, is the New England co-ordinator for the party and he told the Sunday Herald that he has been surprised at the amount of interest generated by his message unit.

"SINCE WE established the number in early August," he said, "we've had hundreds of calls coming in, to listen to our recordings that inform people about local and national issues. I do a lot of them myself, or else take them from our national party's newspaper.

"Last week we had a message against sending troops to Israel, and this week's it's warning blacks not to be puppets of the Jews."

SHERWOOD'S group has been in Bridgeport for the past three years but until recently has been underground. Lately, members of the party have been attending Bridgeport's Common Council meetings dressed in their official uniform—swastika armband, brown shirt, black trousers and storm trooper boots.

"We're here as observers," they say.

The messages that are recorded over the telephone are all perfectly legal.

Says Sherwood, "We comply with the telephone company's regulations, and there is no problem. I estimate we get about 400 calls a day, because our machine is constantly running. It's on from 7 a.m. till 10 p.m."

A Herald reporter spent several fruitless hours of dialing before the busy signal changed to a dial tone.

THE MESSAGES end with the advice that anyone wishing additional information should write to a post office box number.

"We've had an average of 10 requests a day for more information," claims Sherwood. "And then maybe two-thirds of those ask for still more information after we've mailed them our newsletter."

An electrician, Sherwood said that most of the members in the NSWPP are working-class people and students. He declined to divulge membership figures, but said that the group has "grown considerably" in the past year. "Bridgeport's unit is one of the fastest growing in the country," he said.

"AS THE mayoral elections get closer, we're going to keep a close watch on the candidates and we're going to distribute literature against the black hopefuls.

"For instance, Sarah Purcell is a black who's running for the board of education. In her own flyers, she openly calls herself a Marxist. We'll be getting after her for that," he said, "because we are strictly anti-Communist.

"And if Cecil Young who tried to run for mayor had got on the ballot, we would have had literature printed against him. Mrs. Feeta Hudson can expect similar treatment."

'We're warning blacks not to be puppets of the Jews . . .'

SHERWOOD admits that a lot of the flyers he and his members distribute in Bridgeport, Westport, Fairfield and Stratford get ripped up, and that he does get harassing calls and mail.

But he claims that most of his mail is favorable. "For instance, on September 16 I had a letter from a Bridgeporter who has a pretty important job. He wrote he was very interested in what our party has to say," said Sherwood.

"Another one, a woman, asked for as much literature as we could send her."

The party plans to hold a rally in Bridgeport early next month and another in December to repeat its annual demand for the release of Rudolph Hess.

The above clipping is proof of the continuing concern of area politicians over the local White Power Message in Bridgeport, Conn. Local leader Fred Sherwood is now finalizing plans for winter activity in New England, including a large Hess vigil on 8 December.
